Eleanor May Wear Married At Wainwright

A pretty wedding took place at St. Thomas' Anglican Church Tuesday, June 14th at 4:00 p.m., when Miss Eleanor May Wear, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wear of Wainwright, became the bride of Mr. Thomas George Werachowsky of Lea Park, Alberta.

The church was decorated with gladioli and other spring flowers. Rev. R. K. Walters officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in an afternoon dress of pink jersey with a pink picture hat and white shoes and gloves. Her corsage was of pink roses and she carried a white prayer book.

Mrs. Jim Veitch, friend of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Mary Wear attended her sister as bridesmaid, her dress being of blue crepe. She wore white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mr. Jim Robinson supported the groom as best man.

During the signing of the register Miss Mary Wear sang "I'll Walk Beside You" accompanied by Mrs. C. Wachter at the organ.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Wear chose a dress of navy crepe with contrasting accessories and a corsage of roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's family was centred with a three tiered wedding cake, flanked by white tapers. Bouquets of gladioli completed the setting. Misses Jean Cardell, Deveda Fahner and Marjorie Conroy poured tea and coffee.

The young couple left Wednesday afternoon for a short visit at the home of the groom's parents. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Werachowsky will make their home in Wainwright.

Conservatory Of Music Exams At Wainwright

Thomas J. Crawford, teacher of Organ, Singing and Musical Theory at the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto, will conduct examinations for the Conservatory in Wainwright on June 27 and 28.

Born near Glasgow, Scotland, Mr. Crawford came to Canada in 1922 as organist of St. Paul's Anglican Church Toronto, and to join the teaching and examining staff of the Toronto Conservatory. Since then he has identified himself with the musical life of Canada, as a recitalist, composer, lecturer and conductor. In 1932 he became organist and choirmaster of Timothy Eaton Memorial Church in Toronto, recently resigning that post to devote his whole time to teaching and to composition.

Mr. Crawford graduated with honours from the Leipzig Conservatory of Music, being awarded the Heibig Prize, and then resumed his earlier studies under Sir Frederick Bridge, then organist of Westminster Abbey. Beside other organ appointments, he was for many years organist and choirmaster of St. Michael's Church, Chester Square, London, England, a post previously held by Sir Arthur Sullivan.

Cadets and Citizenship

On June 26 and June 27, Naval Cadets will call at your homes. Do not shut the door in their faces, they will be doing their duty as junior citizens of a great democracy; a duty which they also wish you to perform. They will be there to remind you ti at Monday, June 27 is Voting Day; to ask you to go down to the Polls and Vote. Keep up your democratic way of life, do not sit back and not try for a say. If the boys of the community can be citizens let us see the adults take on their role as citizens in the community and go to the Polls. Vote for whom you wish but Vote! Any of you wishing transport that day need only give your name to the Cadets that call.

This will be the Cadets last general duty act this season. They have wound up one of the most successful years in the Corps life to date. They have performed many acts of usefulness to the community; received an excellent inspection report from headquarters, and had one boy pass the naval exams for signalling. Two of the senior boys have become fully qualified Petty Officers. John MacKenzie was been promoted to Chief P.O. Bob Pilgrim to Regulating P.O. and Dave Marsden to P.O.

A moonlight swim and weiner roast at King's Park finished the season's parties and from all accounts it went over well. We will have a repeat of same as soon as school reopens in the fall. The boys are now waiting for July 28 when many of them, accompanied by Lt. E. D. Wilson and Midshipman R. Leduc will leave for Camp Latuna on Gambier Island, Howe Sound, B.C. One lucky fellow will go east to the British Empire Camp.

The Cadets wish to thank the Committee for all they have done this past year. Also Capt. Morrison and the boys of the reserve for the excellent instruction on the Range. We hope we can be of service to all you in the future.

The Cadets train for Citizenship. If they can be of service in the community do not hesitate to call on them.

Wainwright Residents Honor Couple

Over one hundred guests paid their compliments to Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. McLeod, of Wainwright, on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary, when they were entertained at an open house reception on Wednesday, June 8th.

Guests came all through the afternoon and evening, and besides their many words of congratulations and best wishes, presented Mr. and Mrs. McLeod with many beautiful gifts. From the family they received a beautiful silver tray.

Interesting feature of the pleasant affair was the presence of Mrs. McLeod's bridesmaid, now Mrs. Walter Bowling, of Vancouver.

T.B. Mobile Clinic To Tour This District Soon

During the month of August the free T.B. Clinic operated by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association will visit this area and it is hoped that every man, woman and child will take this opportunity to obtain a completely free chest examination. The Clinic will operate at Chauvin, Edgerton and Wainwright and Irma in this area on dates to be announced later.

An initial survey is at present being undertaken in each section of the district to find out who desires to have the examination and when all names have been turned in by the canvassers each person will receive a card on which will be marked the exact date and time of appointment. As the modern equipment carried in this mobile unit can easily carry out 500 examinations a day it is essential that perfect organization of appointments be carried out.

Using the principle of photographing the image of the subject's chest thrown on a flouroscopic screen the equipment can handle 60 candidates an hour. The 35 mm film is then developed and shown by projector to T.B. specialists who report on each person. This system makes it necessary for subjects to undress for examination and greatly speeds up the work.

The Wainwright survey will cover an area roughly extending from a north-south line through Crescent Hill School to a similar line through Heath corner on the Highway. The survey here is conducted under the auspices of the Wainwright and District Board of Trade with Dr. J. E. Bradley and Mr. J. Gilbert Middlemass as chairman and co-chairman. The canvass in the Town will be under the director of the Canadian Red Cross with Mrs. S. W. Smith and Mrs. F. G. Conroy in charge, and the organization will supply actual orders for the actual survey. The F.W.U.A. will handle the country canvass under the able direction of Mrs. W. C. Taylor. Mr. L. W. Smith will handle Clinic Appointments, and Dr. J. D. Wallace together with Mr. L. D'Albertanson of the Star-Chronicle will carry out publicity.

More active Tuberculosis have been found in this area in the past year than for many years previously and all residents are urged to take advantage of this service. As the late President F. D. Roosevelt of the U.S.A. once said "You have nothing to fear but fear itself!"

The regular dinner meeting of the Wainwright Board of Trade was held in the Legion Hut on Friday, June 10, 1949 at 7:00 p.m. with Vice-President Simonson in the chair and fifteen members present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted on motion of Mr. Maddex, seconded by Mr. Walker.

Mr. Turner reported on the financial campaign recently conducted by the Cancer Society and expressed their appreciation for the excellent support given it by the Wainwright citizens.

A request from the Alberta Library Association urging support of a resolution protesting the recent decrease in the Alberta Government's book grant to libraries was read. This was tabled pending the receipt of a report from the Wainwright Public Library Board on its annual operations.

A letter from Mr. F. S. Ford of the Sligo Local No. 209, F.U.A., recommended that a display and demonstration of farm machinery be set up on the Fair grounds on July 1.

Moved by Mr. Morgan, seconded by Mr. Walker, that the Agricultural and Celebrations' Committees give favorable consideration to the Sligo FUA recommendation and arrange for Agricultural Machinery or other displays as space will permit. Cd.

No action was taken on the presentation of a submission re Freight Rates to the Royal Commission on Transportation. It was felt that the Board of Trade's position was fully covered in the brief submitted by the Alberta Board of Trade and Agriculture.

Mr. Morgan introduced the problem of Dust Control particularly as it affected businesses on Main Street. Mr. Robinson explained that this had been under consideration by the Council and that the dust could be controlled reasonably well by a special oil treatment. However this project would in all likelihood not be completed until after the sewer and waterworks pipes had been laid along Main Street.

Mr. Teskey reported on the plans for the Get-Out-The-Vote Campaign in the coming Federal Election.

Moved by Mr. Turner, seconded by Mr. Morgan, that the Board of Trade sponsor the Tuberculosis Chest Survey to be undertaken in August.

Teeter-Jerram Nuptials Solemnized In City

A quiet wedding of interest here took place in Edmonton Wednesday June 15th, when Miss Irene Evelyn Jerram, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Jerram of Wainwright, exchanged vows with Mr. Arthur Teeter of Edmonton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Teeter of Wainwright.

The bride chose for her wedding a floor length gown of blue rayon taffeta with a three quarter length veil held in place by a coronet, she wore white lace mittens, her only jewelry being a pearl necklace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Grace Teeter, sister of the groom attended as bridesmaid and Mr. Roy Teeter supported his brother as best man.

WAINWRIGHT SPORTS, JULY 1st

Wainwright is all set for a big day on July 1st, when they will stage their annual Dominion Day Celebration.

Two softball tournaments, one for the ladies and one for the men promise to bring in a lot of snappy teams and provide lots of thrills. The prizes for softball start out at $40, which is really good money.

$300.00 is offered in prizes for the horseracing events. There will be a number of races and many good heats, and some keen competition is looked for this year.

Not the least will be the track events for children and men for which handsome prizes are being offered. For the kids with bicycles there will also be bicycle races.

Extra attraction this year will be a professional heavyweight wrestling program in the P.M.C. This will feature some top ranking heavyweight wrestlers from the United States. Details of these bouts will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Bring the whole family to Wainwright on July 1st. It will really be a big day of fun and frolic.

Hospital Auxiliary Notes

The June meeting of the Wainwright Hospital Auxiliary was held at the hospital on the 13th, with ten members present. After completion of sewing on hand, and stamping the books received from the Library Board President, Mrs. Dundas called the meeting to order, and minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

Mrs. Dundas expressed the pleasure of all the group at having Mrs. H. C. Wallace with us, and our hope that she will be able to attend our future meetings.

The matter of plaques for ward doors and donated articles was discussed again, and Mrs. Dundas offered to see the other organizations requiring plaques, so that they might all be ordered as soon as possible.

A letter was read from the President of the Associated Hospital Auxiliaries of Hospitals of Alberta, advising us of a meeting of representatives of all local auxiliaries, at the convention of Associated Hospitals of Alberta, to be held at Calgary in November. An affiliation fee of $5.00 has been proposed, to finance this meeting and to defray other expenses of the organization. After some discussion it was moved that we write the Provincial group inquiring if the yearly affiliation fee would be our only financial commitment to the parent association, and if so, that we affiliate immediately.

Th ersport of convenor of our Tag Day, Mrs. Bradley, was then read, showing proceeds as follows: From Wainwright and district . $259.60; from Edgerton and district $44.44; and from Chauvin and district, $39.00, all totalling $373.12. Letters of thanks were to be written to all the groups who contributed to the success of this effort. It was also suggested that we write to the ladies of Edgerton and Chauvin who assisted us, inviting them to attend a social meeting of the Auxiliary, to follow our Annual Meeting in September.

It was moved that we hold no regular meetings during July and August with the understanding that members would be available for sewing whenever required.

Since the Auxiliary still has some money in the Treasury, it was generally felt that it should be put to some use immediately, and it was moved that we try to secure a small refrigerator for use in the nursery, and that balance be applied to our library project. Mrs. Dundas asked Mrs. H. C. Wallace and Miss Sim to act as a committee to inquire into securing a sectional bookcase, which may be added to in the future.

The meeting was then adjourned for lunch. Hostesses for our next meeting to be held on September 12th will be Mrs. H. Davidson and Mrs. I. Dundas.

AND NOW IT'S ELECTION TIME

Time has a way of passing, and sometimes pretty rapidly. That's about the way it seems with this election. A few months ago we were debating the date, then we heard that the date had been set—yes it was away off, on June 27th . . . and now here it is! There'll be a few more big efforts at convincing the public that one party is right and all the rest wrong and then voting day will be here. What are you going to do about it? Are you going to get out and use your vote, and do so in the most intelligent and unbiased fashion you can . . , or are you going to stay at home and let this most precious privilege go to waste?

After spending nearly all his life at sea, an old sailor retired from the service. Every morning a small boy knocked on the old salt's door, went in, and came out again. After this had gone on for several weeks and the curiosity of the neighbours had been aroused, one of them stopped the boy on the street.

"Say," she asked the youngster, "why do you visit the old sailor every morning?"

"Well, he gives me ten cents," the boy replied, "if I say The skipper wants to see you immediately.' "

"And what does he say then?"

"He yells: Tell the skipper to go to hell!' "

RECESSIONS CAN LEAD TO DEPRESSIONS

If you don't sleep very soundly anyway and are interested in the trend of affairs down in the States, just switch your radio over onto short wave and catch the early morning broadcasts, say at four, five or six o'clock. Congress has talked itself into a "flap" and both Republicans and Democrats seem to be busy building stumbling blocks to progress in an attempt to throttle down President Truman's progressive legislation. In the meantime, instead of trying to level off and stabilize price structures so that commerce and industry could feel safe to take a chance on the future. Unemployment has reached serious proportions, and yet in the face of this the larger labor unions are setting out for another round of wage increases. Labor needs the increases unless commodity prices are stabilized. The danger point is in the failure of Congress to realize the danger till it is too late. Strange as it may seem, the only serious warning we have heard has come from Senator Howard Taft. He quoted Franklin D. Roosevelt of 1933: "The only thing we need to fear is fear." We are of the opinion that Truman did not win the battle of the Presidency to meet defeat at the hands of Congress. We have danger spots in Canada. We will need wise statesmen to guide us over the final hurdles of reconversion from war to peace. But our people have been frugal. Their savings have been constantly growing since 1945. We are in a position to stand quite a shock, economically. But can we withstand heavy shocks politically and ethically?

—Camrose Canadian.

The building contractor raced his car out to the scene of the debacle. There, in a pitiful heap, was one of his newest postwar houses. It had simply collapsed in the process of construction.

"Doggonit!" fumed the contractor. "I told those dumb carpenters not to take down the scaffolding until the wallpaper was put up!

T.B. CLINIC TO COME SOON

The dates have not yet been definitely announced, but the mobile T.B. clinic is scheduled to visit Wainwright, Edgerton and Chauvin sometime during the next six weeks or so.

It is now about five year since the clinic passed through the district, and it's return will be welcomed. The work of the clinic is most valuable—perhaps the only weakness of the system is the long period between visits. T.B. is one of the few remaining deadly contagious diseases which affect us in this area. Fortunately it is a curable disease. But the chances of a cure and in proportion to the earliness of diagnosis.

It is pretty difficult for a person in the early stages of tuberculosis to realize that there is anything seriously wrong—and even if medical aid is called diagnosis is still difficult until the disease has progressed quite far along its course. Only the x-ray and men trained particularly in the identification of pulmonary diseases can effectively spot the diseases in its early stages.

The mobile clinic affords you an opportunity for just such service. There is no charge. The services of the clinic are free. All you are asked to do is to register ahead, so that the clinic can plan its visit effectively. After the photos are taken they are studied by experts, and should you be unfortunate enough to be a victim of the diseases, your doctor will be notified and will pass the information along to you.

Full details of the clinics visits together with information as to how and when to register will be published in these columns when available.

Citizenship Training Must Begin in the Home

H. G. Teskey

It has often been asserted that the school can do little remarkable work without the cooperation of the home. In the vast majority of cases the good students come from homes that have an appreciation of the value of education and cooperate loyally with the school. Of course it does not necessarily follow that, if the home provides the finest of incentives to scholarship, the children from those homes will be phenomenal scholars. But at least they begin with a tremendous advantage.

If in the home appreciation of good music is shown, the children will take a greater interest in such music. If there is a phonograph supplied with finest of musical records, if the radio is frequently tuned in to opera and symphony music, then the children will tend to enjoy that type of music. If popular dance music is the prevailing type, the children will surely become jitter-bugs.

If in the home there is a good library stocked with the classics and the finest of contemporary works, an appreciation of good literature and good English usage will probably result to all in that home. But if the home is devoid of books (as too many are) or stocked with Hollywood romances and mystery thrillers, the English teachers in school will have received little help or encouragement.

So, if in the home there is a daily newspaper and magazine of current events, if problems of the nation and the world are freely discussed in an intelligent and unbiased way, the children will learn to interest themselves in the settlement of the Palestine dispute, the spread of communism in Asia, the Marshall Plan, the "mountain differential", and the Dominion election. But if there is no discussion of such events in the home and the paper serves only to keep its inmates informed of the latest murder, the baseball results, and the adventures of Li'l Abner, the children will almost certainly grow up quite ignorant of and indifferent to what is going on of importance in the world about them.

"But what is the school doing? Is it not the duty of the school rather than of the home to teach such things you may ask. The school is doing what it can; but what is taugh in the school takes on a meaning only when it is practiced in the life of the student outside the school. In the school all is theory except in so far as it can be intimately related to the practical life of the student. Good music taught in the school is a school subject to be studied in the school and forgotten outside unless that same good music comes into the home. Good literature studied in school (even though it may be enjoyed) is left in the school unless the children have been brought up to think that it is also suitable in the home. So, no matter to what an extent current events may be discussed in school, if it is not a subject of home study and conversation, it will have little practical meaning to the students. The fact is that practice is a much more effective teacher than is precept.

Of course there are ways of teaching current events to give them a practical meaning. I might distribute my students in polling booths on election day (with the permission of the Returning Officer) and let them see democracy in action. Or I might induce the town council to hold a meeting or two in the Separate School hall or in the Arena in order that all of my students might see first hand how the business of the town is conducted. But such methods have certain apparent disadvantages and others not so apparent. But the idea is good and with small groups of students the method has often been used.

But if the homes remain indifferent to what I am trying to teach, the students will refuse to see anything very useful in it. I could lecture in my classrooms from now until doomsday about the necessity of citizens of a democracy taking an intelligent interest in their own government and my students would still grow up to think that politics is an occupation for crack-pot degenerates if that is the general impression derived from the home conversation. But if I had the help of the homes, I could achieve my object of inducing my students to take a greater interest in their democratic responsibility.

So I apeal to all parents who have the kindness and patience to read this column to set an example in democratic public-spiritedness. Talk about public affairs in the home where your children can hear you. Form opinions about our political parties and the election issues and let it be known why you have those opinions. Get out and vote on June 27 and thus support the commendable "Operation Vote" of the Canadian Legion.

But why should I make this appeal to you? If you are the kind that will read this, you do not need to be appealed to in this way. So I would ask you to "work" on your friends and neighbors who are less interested in public affairs and try to see to it that they vote. Public-spiritedness, like measles, is contagious. Let us do our best to see that everyone is exposed.

Although the number of hens that are laying eggs is 10 per cent lower than last year, every group of 100 birds is producing 15 more eggs than last year.

Excessive tidiness is said to indicate a mild form of insanity, from which most newspapermen are happily immune.

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

SOMEBODY DECIDES FOR THE UNDECIDED

A recent Gallup survey on the political opinions of those who are soon to go to the polls established a deplorable fact, that more than one fifth of our voting population—21%—hadn't yet made up their minds how to vote in the Dominion election. What is still more significant is that if that percentage of undecided voters were suddenly to be swayed in one direction this one-fifth of the voting population could determine the political future of the whole. Even in the unlikely event that they turned unanimously to one of the almost negligible groups they could make it a serious factor in our affairs. It should be somewhat disturbing that people with so little or such undecided interests should have such potential power. True, they probably will not use it because of the possibly related fact that an almost similar number of voters—24%*in the last election—did not vote at all, though the votes cast showed a higher percentage than in any other election in the past two decades.

Obviously, in any election there is a percentage of voters who by reason of age or illness or absence, or some other legitimate cause are actually prevented from voting. But surely these circumstances do not cover a quarter of our voting population.

In all probability there are proportionately as many old and ill and absent in Saskatchewan as elsewhere, and certainly the difficulties of casting a vote are more acute than in the more populous East. Yet, in the 1945 election, where the Maritimes and British Columbia turned out approximately 80% of the total vote, Alberta and Quebec about 74 per cent and Ontario and Manitoba about 75 per cent, Saskatchewan really went to town and turned out 85 per cent.

It seems then that more of the people in that province actually decided what they wanted and, what was more important, determined to do something about it. Of course if what they did satisfies you, what is written here is of only distant importance. If it does not, then the obvious implication is that the rest of us had better see to it that we get out 85 per cent or better of our vote. If we can't make up our minds or if, having made them up, we are too indolent or careless to assert our views, what then? We can blame no one but ourselves if, ultimately, a minority of voters becomes a majority, and a minority way of thought becomes the rule and the government of a majority of the people.

Dear Editor:

May I as secretary of the F.W.U.A. District 7, bring before the ratepayers of the Wainwright Hospital District the following:

"Whereas at present time when a ratepayer patient, of the Wainwright Muncipal Hospital District, is referred to an outside Hospital for treatment by the local doctors, this patient has to pay all hospital expenses incurred, and also pay taxes to the Wainwright Hospital. We find this system unjust and in some cases an undue hardship; Therefore be it resolved that if a ratepayer patient is sent to another Hospital by the local doctors that the Wainwright Hospital District pay to the patient the same public ward rate as is paid in the local hospital."

The above resolution was passed unanimously at the F.W.U.A. Conference held in Edgerton on June 8th. It was also passed last year at our Conference held on August 6th. It was sent along with a letter to the Hospital Board. Several delegations from different districts have also approached to Wainwright Hospital Board on the same question. We feel that if a ratepayer is forced to enter another hospital because he cannot be treated at the Wainwright Hospital, it only seems fair that the Wainwright Hospital Board give assistance to the amount it would cost them to hospitalize that same patient in the Wainwright Hospital. In this way we feel that the Hospital won't be out anything and it would not work too much hardship on the person who has to be transferred by the doctors to another hospital. These cases should be few and far between as we know we have a very modern and up-to-date Hospital in Wainwright and very good doctors. It is only patients that have been sent by the Wainwright doctors to outside hospitals to which we refer. A person who goes on his own will naturally be expected to meet his own expenses, unless he can prove that he was an emergency and was forced to enter hospital while away from home and it being a case where he was unable to reach the Wainwright Hospital.

The Wainwright Hospital would then only be asked to pay these accounts after the transferred patient has had his transfer authorized by the Wainwright doctors and the secretary of the Wainwright Hospital Board, and only to the extent of the daily public ward rate. The Wainwright Hospital Board would not be asked to pay the full rate charged by city hospitals.

In the past the Board has always replied that this would greatly raise the mill rate. I don't think so. It would certainly be a great help to the patient who has to suffer greater hardship and expense when sent away from his local hospital. They also reply that everyone would go to another hospital, I don't think so, and we don't refer to anyone who goes on his own.

A resolution something in this line was rejected at a recent Board meeting. We feel that the Board should have given this much more consideration or else give us a good reason why they think it so impossible.

Our conference appointed a Standing Committee chosen from all parts of the Hospital District, to approach the Hospital Board again. We will be glad to work along with any other organisations or individuals who feel as we do.

Thank you Mr. Editor.

Mrs. MIKE BELIK,
Secretary-Treasurer
F.W.U.A., District 7,
Edgerton, Alberta.

Bruce, Alberta.
June 14, 1949

To the Editor,
The Star-Chronicle,
Wainwright, Alberta.
Dear Sir:

My attention has been called to a letter of Robert Fair's entitled, "Report to the People", and published in several newspapers in the Battle River constituency.

In one part of the letter he is talking about those men who volunteered to serve in the war and he makes this statement: "THE FIRST TO VOLUNTEER WERE THE MEN WHO HAD BEEN ON THE BREAD LINE."

This is one of the most shameful and disgraceful statements I have ever heard a public man utter and is an insult to every boy who volunteered to serve his country, and to the parents of those boys. I myself have two sons who volunteered. The Liberal candidate for Battle River constituency had four brothers who volunteered. Those boys were not on the bread line. They volunteered from a sense of duty and from a wish to serve their country.

I know thousands of young men who volunteered for service and I do not know a single one who volunteered because he was on the breadline.

Down in the Vegreville constituency the Social Credit candidate, Anthony Hlynka, boasts that he helped deserters. I quote a statement from one of his advertisements: "At the end of the war and after he (Hlynka) demanded often with success pardon for deserters."

What kind of people are these whom we have sent to Ottawa to misrepresent and insult us?

Surely it is high time that we send men to Ottawa who have a proper respect for public duty, who understand the problems of this country and who will support a government which has given us wise leadership, progressive policies and has made Canada a great nation.

Yours very truly,
J. W. STAMBAUGH.

WHITE CLOUD

The Gilt Edge W.I. held their June meeting at the home of Mrs. Olson Sr. with 15 members present, five members getting transferred from the Rose Willow W.I. and one visitor present. The meeting was opened by repeating the Club prayer and singing the club songs, as W.I. material has not been received so far, but it is hoped it will be on hand for the next meeting. After the business was finished, Mrs. D. Teeter gave a very thorough report on her trip to the W.I. convention held in Edmonton the latter part of May.

Mrs. Teeter also told of the meeting at Map, Mrs. W. Scherbinski gave the contest, Mrs. A. Olson getting the very nice lunch was served and enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Babb and son Allan from Lloydminster visited at the Babb home Monday evening, Miss Clara Babb returned to their home with them.

The dance sponsored by the Gilt Edge Ball Club was a very successful dance with a good crowd in attendance.

Quite a few motored up to the Holden Stampede and reports were favorable.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Babb drove to the city on Saturday to attend graduation exercises at the Alberta College.

REMODELING FARM HOMES

A survey team from the Planning Research Centre of the University of Manitoba will be in the Wainwright District on July 12. This survey is being made to get material necessary to make up a bulletin on remodeling. They would like to visit at least 4 farm homes in this district, 2 where remodeling is proposed and 2 where remodeling has already been done. Anyone wishing to have this survey made of their home please leave your name at this office and I will endeavour to bring this survey team to visit you while they are here.

GRASSHOPPERS

There has been several reports of grasshopper infestation in the M.D. Wainwright this spring and all of them so far have been in the sand hill areas south of Wainwright or Lac. of Edgerton. Inspection of one quarter of land reported infested showed the hoppers to be native to pasture areas and not the type that infest crop land areas. Anyone finding hoppers on their land in large numbers would be well advised to send some into this office for a positive identification, as to whether they are the type that might cause crop damage. There is a serious infestation of hoppers in the district around Provost and the possibility that some flew this far north before laying eggs is readily feasable.

1948 SEED PRODUCTION

In the seed production report recently released by the Plant Products Division, Department of Agriculture, it was revealed that record, or near record, quantities were harvested in 1948, of most of the major forage and cereal seeds. The alfalfa, red clover and sweet clover seed crops were by far the largest ever harvested. While the alsike seed crop was not of record proportions, it was, however, the largest in nineteen years. Total production of these four kinds amounted to about 70 million pounds. This is far in excess of normal domestic requirements, but a strong export demand to the U.S., U.K. and Western European countries was responsible for most surplus quantities of these kinds finding a ready market.

Timothy seed production showed a sharp decline from that of recent years when only fifty per cent of the 1947 crop was realized. With the 1948 crop placed at only about five and a half million pounds, it was considerably less than the 12-year average of nine and a quarter million pounds. The relatively higher value of the crop for hay last season in Ontario and Quebec contributed to the fact that a small acreage was left for seed.

Exports of timothy seed were only a fraction of those of recent years, and normal imports were impossible due to U.S. production in 1948 being the smallest in years.

Of the remaining kinds of important grass seeds, only Canada blue grass seed production was smaller than in 1947. Record crops of creeping red fescue, meadow fescue and Kentucky Blue grass seed were produced in 1948. Production of brome grass, crested wheat grass and slender wheat grass seed was about normal.

The 1948 production of cereals, flax and other field seeds eligible for Registered and Certified grades was double that of 1947, and far exceeded that of any other year.

BROODING CHICKS WITH RADIANT HEAT

The brooding of chicks in colony houses with brooder stoves has proved very satisfactory, but efficiency of operation is low and each brooder stove is a potential fire hazard. For these reasons, the trend has been toward large brooder houses with a central heating plant. The usual method is by heating the air with hot water pipes. A newer method is by embedding the pipes or electric heating elements in the concrete floor to produce radiant heat. An electric heating unit costs less to install than a hot water system, and it requires very little attention, but the cost of current is relatively high in most localities.

Excellent results have been obtained at the Dominion Experimental Station Fredericton, N.B., with radiant heat from an electrical installation, says Leonard Griesbach, who is in charge of poultry. In the first test conducted chicks brooded in a pen with radiant heat were inferior to a control lot brooded with conventional brooder stoves, but it was found that temperatures maintained in the pen with radiant heat were too low. When suitable temperatures were maintained with subsequent lots, excellent results were obtained. It was found that chicks should be started with a floor temperature of 100 to 102 degrees Fahrenheit, with the bulb of the testing thermometer actually touching the floor. This will give an air temperature of approximately 92 degrees about one-half inch above the floor and slightly lower temperatures at higher levels. The air temperatures may vary slightly with a given floor temperature, according to the amount of ventilation provided. The action of the chicks is the best indication of the proper temperature to maintain, but these temperatures are a reliable guide.

It is advisable to install the heating elements in such a way that lower floor temperatures can be maintained at the sides of the pen than in the centre, to enable the chicks to select the most comfortable location. Temperatures should be reduced gradually after the first few days to promote hardiness and rapid feathering.

No litter is required with floor radiant heating. The droppings dry quickly and may be allowed to accumulate in order to provide some slight insulation from the heat as the chicks grow older. Chicks require less floor space with radiant heating than with brooder stoves but overcrowding should be avoided. Each square foot will accommodate up to approximately five to six chicks for two or three weeks or about half this number for six weeks. If overcrowding is avoided and ventilation is adequate, the droppings remain powdery dry and the danger of an outbreak of coccidiosis in the brooder house is eliminated.

INDIA'S FARMING LINKED TO CATTLE

In a recent speech the Minister of Food and Agriculture for India, spoke on the cattle situation in that country.

Cattle, the Minister stated, are the backbone of Indian agriculture, with some eighty per cent of the agricultural population depending on oxen and buffaloes for draft power. India and about 208 million head of cattle, including buffaloes, before partition—nearly one-third of the world's cattle numbers. Of this number, an estimated 80 million are now in Pakistan.

In spite of the huge cattle population, the Minister declared, the country is lacking both milk and bullocks, the shortage of feed and fodder being the main contributing factor. Not more than 60 per cent of the fodder and about a quarter of the required concentrates are produced in India. Annual production of milk in India is only one-third of the minimum nutritional requirements, and in addition some ten million tons are required for calf rearing.

Nevertheless, the Minister continued, feeding requirements can be fully met by a 50 per cent increase in feed production, and appreciable gains toward this end can be achieved through the introduction of proper cropping systems, readjustment of crop cultivation on a mixed farming basis, and feed conservation practices. Much of India's 136 million acres of grazing lands only produce two tons of grass per acre, of which one-third is wasted through inefficient ensilage and haymaking methods.

Apart from the efforts to improve livestock feed, the animals themselves are to be improved. Bulls are to be located in selected "key" villages, with a view to serving wider areas with better bred animals; governmental efforts to evolve a dual-purpose breed—draught and milk cattle—are to be hastened and greater reliance is to be placed on artificial insemination

We were glad to see such enthusiasm as was shown last Sunday when several turned out to help fix up the tennis court. Although there were some sunburned faces and strained backs, it showed a great improvement on the tennis court that they completed. However, there is still another court to be done so let's see the same kind of co-operation next time.

MRS. MacGREGOR FETED AT FAREWELL PARTY

Monday evening, June 20th, the United Church Grace Guild ladies held a farewell party at the home of Mrs. Albert Rattray, in honor of Mrs. Miriam MacGregor who will move to her new home in Edmonton the first week in July.

Some twenty guests were present among them, Mrs. K. Stowell who is a newcomer to Wainwright.

A most delightful evening was spent with Miss Eileen Graunke and Mrs. J. Stranahan in charge of the entertainment.

On behalf of the group Mrs. Foxall presented Mrs. MacGregor with three silver spoons in the "Morning Star" pattern, to match her set of silverware. Mrs. MacGregor most ably responded and expressed regrets that she is leaving Wainwright, however she gave everyone her address and a cordial invitation to call on her in her new home.

A pleasant evening was concluded with a delicious lunch served by the hostess, Mrs. June Symes, Mrs. Jack Peacock and Mrs. L. Dahl.

Sew and So Club

The June meeting of the Sew and So Club was held at the home of Mrs. P. Smith, with nine members and three visitors present. Mrs. Doris Inkin supplied a very interesting programme for the meeting. The "Used Clothing Parcel" was not made up as quite a few members were unable to be present.

A discussion followed on whether we should have a picnic or not, and decided to wait until next meeting to decide same. The secretary stated that a plate glass dresser top had been ordered but to date had not arrived.

The contest being "To Name Where Famous Places Are" conducted by the president was won by Mrs. Cynthia Ballentine. We welcomed Mrs. Edith Christensen into our Club.

The closing hymn was "Jesus is Calling Us Home" after which Mrs. Smith served a very delicious supper.

St. Thomas W.A.

The Park Branch of St. Thomas W.A. met June 16, with six members present. Three members had attended the Deanery meeting at Irma. Mrs. Tackabury and Mrs. Garton made several suggestions for the coming years work and our discussions followed along these lines. Our Educational Secretary read from the Living Message on the work of the C.O.M.C. A motion followed that a donation be sent to the Anglican Womens Training College and also that our pledge be taken care of. The Park Branch will assist the W.A. July 1st. Treasurers report was read and meeting adjourned. The next meeting to be held on the third Wednesday in September.

Womens Institute Notes

The W.I. meeting was held at the home of the President Mrs. C. Wilbraham with eight members and one new member present.

The highlights of the meeting were the splendid reports brought back by the delegate Mrs. N. Kowalchuk who attended the recent W.I. Convention in Edmonton. Two papers were also given by Mrs. H. Smart on Agriculture and Mrs. G. McCaffrey on Handicraft.

The sale of home cooking recently held netted $14.15 which was sent to the Provincial Cancer Fund of the W.I.

Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. McNally July 12 at 8 p.m.

Someone Else Thinks

About the "Prom"
by "Pre-Prom"

Mr. Teskey's thoughts on the 'Prom' have been published, read, and digested. As usual, this article was a clever one; a welcome innovation was a bit of sentiment; the epistle would have been more convincing if Mr. Teskey had not allowed sentiment to capture him, for under the stress of an emotion it is a fact that one does not do all the logical thinking of which he would otherwise be capable.

And that is what this article does; it chooses to omit many facts in order to make its point strong. Those facts will herein be discussed.

The first one, as I recall, was a suggestion that by having the Prom, the School is encouraging young folks to participate too early in the joys of adulthood. Of course that is what youth wants to do—it impatiently clamors to grow up; add no encouraging of, or prolonging of, childhood activities will alter that. As for the very young at the Prom,—that is the parents' business, not the schools; but I would suggest that perhaps, as I, in my youth, the young teen-ager was allowed to go "this once" simply because it was something extra-special. As for the somewhat older teen-agers, it takes little imagination to realize that folk of their age are out earning their daily bread; indeed as young as they "are happy mothers made."

Mr. Teskey was much concerned about the girl who had to stay at home because she didn't have an escort and/or a long dress; but I wonder why he didn't worry about the absent boys. This Prom is partly a Sadie-Hawkins affair; the girl has as much right to ask a boy and to foot the bill, as a boy has to ask a girl. This should arouse as much curiosity about the absent boy as about the absent girl, it seems to me. But of course, perhaps the boy didn't have a suit to wear. One has only to look at the Prom some year to answer that one.

And so the long dress remains the insoluble problem. Now, of course, Papa can buy one. It seems to me that a long dress is part of a girl's necessary wardrobe in this day and age. (Now I am not so stupid not to know that young girls have a way of expanding in size, that this year's dress will not fit next year, but with the older teen-ager this is not so marked.) So Papa buys a dress. I won't think he'll buy one if he has to sacrifice his only, last, and bottom twenty dollars. Indeed, I dare to suggest that if he is so poor, his daughter will be out earning her own living, and can buy her own dress. Mr. Teskey speculates as to how the parent felt when he "forked over". Perhaps: (with apologies to St. John) "A woman when she is in travail hath sorrow, because her hour is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the child she remembereth no more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world." The true parent will be well repaid when he sees the thrill on his child's face, for "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

But Papa won't buy a dress, and Mama can't make one; but I'm sure she is interested; we can forgive Papa's disinterestedness because he can't possibly know what it feels like to have a gown; and Mama remembers now she never had one; so she wishes her child to have what she lacked. (Mr. Teskey said Mama often is "none too sympathetic". I don't believe it!)

He seems to argue that what was good enough for the parents is good enough for the children. Or perhaps I just can't read!

Perhaps Daughter is handier with her needle than Mother; perhaps Daughter has taken sewing in school, whereas Mama didn't. A recent article said "I fail to see that education is, in general, more practical than it was in my day, too many years ago.")

But if our girl still hasn't an evening dress there is the grape-vine grow ing over the back fence and trailing God-knows-where. I know that there are ladies in this friendly town of ours who offer to lend lovely gowns which they themselves have worn (evening gowns have a way of being almost dateless creations) without even being asked; some do not even expect them to be dry-cleaned on their return.

Some students have after-hour jobs and can pay for their own gowns. I know of such.

But I suppose that Mr. Teskey knows of a girl who couldn't get a gown; perhaps this article will help her next year.

At all other school dances during the year, neither a long gown nor an escort is required. Yet by no means do all the boys and all the girls attend; while I have no figures on it, it would seem to me that as many of the students attended the Prom as any other dance, yes, more. Now if all the students had attended all the other dances, and all the same students did not attend the Prom, I would be only too willing to consider a "Prom" of a less formal nature. As it is I am not, for it would then cease to be a "Prom"; it would be just another dance held at the end of the school year.

So the girl—nobody remembered the boys—who stayed home have my admiration and respect (and I'd have to see them "crying into their pillows" before I'd believe it. That savors a little of Hollywood to me.) This dance without an escort, would be stupid; most dances are as girls well know; there is always a preponderance of women; they sit around, try to look happy, dance together, stay and be miserable, or end up by going home and crying into their pillows. One of the reasons that the Prom is so successful is that there is an equal number of girls and boys there. The programs are filled, for the most part, previous to the prom by the "inviter". The invitee has no choice of partners. Surely the social advantage of such an arrangement are so evident that further explanation is unnecessary.

Now, I am, sorry too, for the boy and girl who really wanted to go and couldn't get there; but I do believe that she is much better off miserable at home than at the Prom "defying convention," as Mr. Teskey suggested her to do by his well-meaning invitation. But there is always another year. Nobody seems to worry if everyone does not play ball or hockey, or curl, or attend the other high school dances. All this fuss about some students not at the Prom seems a little over-done to me.

Now Mr. Teskey also argues that inability to attend the Prom might result in the student's developing a sense of injustice toward society. I saw a six year old girl's heart breaking because of what she thought was an injustice done her by her mother. But of course, if we want to "make the worse appear the better reason," as Mr. Teskey's reasoning seems to me to do, we could say that the girl "weeping into her pillow" is receiving a valuable lesson in adjustment "to the slings and arrows of outragious fortune", and that she is learning that all too often we do not have everything we wish for. Mr. Teskey says "it is the school's business to prepare the student for life."

I think it is the school's business to prepare the student for gracious living, all small towns are deficient in cultural activities—"cultural entertainment" (if there be such a thing) not the least of these. The Prom is one of the few examples of that in this town. To this Mr. Teskey agrees. Then where is the argument. Perhaps there should be more of its kind—not fewer; because it cannot be made less formal. It will become informal if it is changed in any way. Having the girls wear short dresses wont help Papa's pocket-book. They'll want a new short one each year because last year's will have been worn out or too short (or too long) by next year. Enough has been said about the escort angle already.

The Students' Union is to be complimented in maintaining the Prom inaugurated by Mr. M. Meade ten years ago. He was a far-sighted, admired, and much-respected gentleman, beloved by the almost unanimous majority of his students. The Alumni, I am sure would be pleased to see reinstated the delightful custom of having a birthday cake at the Prom, a custom which he said he hoped would be observed always, and which has been omitted at the last two affairs.

"The Prom," says Mr. Teskey "has proved a blessing to the majority of the students." Who could ask for more?

The scarcity of ivory billiard balls in 1868 was the reason for John Wesley Hyatt's search for and development of plastics; his plastic billiard ball was the start of the present plastics industry.

CLEAN-UP! PAINT-UP! PLANT-UP! LIGHT-UP!

A community's well being, to a large extent, is in the hands of all its people.

Most progressive communities realize the need for a practical public educational program for healthier, safer and more attractive living. Clean-Up! Paint-Up! Plant-Up! Light-Up! is such a program! Because it is truly in the public service, every segment of the local population is attracted to it and is usually eager to participate.

Noted educators, and other authorities on youth training and development, are in accord in their opinion about the influence of home environment upon the minds and morals of our youth. Facts show us clearly that children who live in disorderly, unsanitary homes and environments make up the greatest percentage of our juvenile delinquents. They agree that a child reared in a clean, orderly home has a better chance of being an upright citizen.

The medical profession as a whole believes that if cleanliness is practiced more generally, our disease rate will be less. Since most of our population that is disabled by illness is ill-housed and ill-fed, decent living conditions are obviously powerful weapons against disease.

Safety engineers and fire prevention experts point to the many accident and hazards that are created by untidy conditions in homes. Of all the lives taken by fire every year, three-fifths of the deaths from fire occur in homes. The toll of children is heavy.

Even more important than the better health, safety and living factors, perhaps are the educational benefits to the children who take part in this civic program.

The importance of school children co-operating in the National Beautification Campaign cannot be overstated. It teaches youngsters good habits of cleanliness, co-operation and self-participation; furthermore these children in a few short years will be leaders and property owners in their community. The impressions of Clean Up! Paint-Up! Plant-Up! Light-Up which they gain now will be formed into stronger convictions in later years.

The program is all-inclusive and calls on everyone to assist in creating a cleaner, healthier community—children and parents, civic organizations, community welfare agencies, church groups and local business men all co-operate. From the standpoint of children, this activity permits them to have an important share in a worth while civic program. They can perform a great many of the campaign's manual tasks themselves and will make the discovery that work can be fun. The program develops enterprise and leadership in youngsters. It gives an understanding of what community teamwork can accomplish that will make them better citizens when they are grown up.

Hints for the Household

THE BRIDES DAY OF TRICKS

It is music in any woman's ears to hear it said "she sets the best table for miles around", for good cooking is an important part of good living.

The bride, who is taking charge of a home for the first time, finds it quite different from helping at home, for now everything seems to demand her attention at once.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, have many ideas for the inexperienced cook.

A good recipe never goes out of style but it may be adapted to meet the present need.

The old ways, well tried
May be your guide
The new ways, with science applied will be your pride.

Allowing for the poetic license of this jingle, it carries a truth. Grandmothers ideas, however good, could have improved by accuracy. Here are some good rules.

Follow the recipe exactly and use level measurements. Measure dry ingredients first.

Light the oven ten minutes before time for using and set the oven regulator at the proper temperature.

Beat egg whites before yolks so the beater will not have to be washed twice.

Take butter and other fats out of the refrigerator some time before using. (They are easier to measure).

Use small saucepans when making sauces. Most sauces should be cooked over very low heat or in a double boiler.

After a mixture boils, turn the heat low. (Water can get no hotter than boiling).

Taste all foods before serving.

Cover all dishes in the refrigerator.

Peel onions under water to prevent tears.

To blend flour and water for thickening, put in a small jar, screw the top tightly and shake. Use the amount needed. Keep the remainder in the refrigerator for future use.

Grease the saucepan in which chocolate is to be melted. You will not waste chocolate and the pan will be easy to wash.

To prevent macaroni or spaghetti from boiling over when cooking put a teaspoon of fat in the water.

To make crumbs the easy way, put the dry bread or crackers in a clean tea towel, gather the corners in your left hand and with the right hand, work the bread until it is crumbled. No crumbs on the floor and no rolling pin to wash.

When custard sauce or cooked salad-dressing curdles, remove it from the heat at once, pour into a cold bowl and beat vigorously with a rotary egg beater.

Start bacon frying in a cold pan.

Roast the bird with breast down. It keeps the meat moist.

Turn breast up for the last half hour to brown.

Flour the meat for stew in a paper bag. Mix flour and seasonings in the bag. Drop meat in and shake until each piece of meat is well coated.

"Talk about real-life dramas— you should try my job!"

Bill: "I don't see how you keep so cheerful, Dick. I should think a life insurance agent's job would be humdrum."

Dick: "You're wrong there! You'd be surprised how much drama there is in my job — and what a kick I get out of it. Yesterday, for instance . . .

1. "At the office I found a claim cheque ready for delivery to a widow who needed that money. Don't you suppose her gratitude made me feel I'd done something important?"

2. "Then, on the way back, I stopped off to see Tom Black — he and a partner have just opened a new garage. Now, if one of the partners should die prematurely, the other will be able to carry on that business."

3. "From there to see George Williams who's retiring soon. Our company will start paying him to relax and enjoy himself. You should have seen him smiling, just like a happy kid!"

4. "Coming out, I met Jim Trimble who's going to college — thanks to the policy I sold his Dad. Believe me, I shared his excitement."

5. "Next, I helped a couple bring their life insurance programme up to date. They've just had an addition to their family. They were happy before, but now they've got peace of mind, too!

"That's the way it goes. "And that's why I think a life insurance agent has the best job in the world!"

A helpful citizen in your community

When your agent sells you life insurance, he also helps to improve your community. For a large part of each life insurance dollar is put to work, through investments, to build schools, bridges, highways, industrial plants and many other projects that create jobs and make for better living.

You share in these improvements, made possible through the efforts of your helpful fellow-citizen — the modern life insurance agent!

HAVE YOU $10 in U.S. FUNDS?

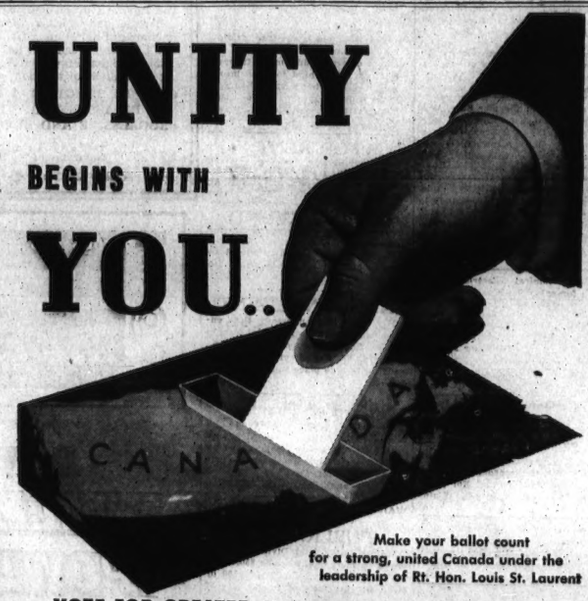

If you have more than $10 in U.S. cash you should turn it in to your bank, in exchange for Canadian dollars, without delay. Existing regulations make it illegal for any Canadian resident to retain in his possession more than $10 in United States cash.

HERE'S THE REASON

Canada must have the U.S. dollars spent here by tourists in order to make them available for the payment of imported goods and services needed to keep production and employment at a high level.

Manitou Council Still Working on Dr. Question

The regular meeting of the Council of the R.M. of Manitou Lake No. 442 was held on Tuesday, June 7th, 1949 and continued on Saturday, June 11th, 1949, both at the rural municipal office at Marsden with Reeve MacCuilie in the chair and all councillors in attendance.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted on motion made by Cpun. Atkinson.

MacCuilie—that this Council go on record as being interested, in co-operation with the R.M. of Hillsdale No. 440 and the two villages, in entering into a municipal doctor contract with Dr. R. B. Rowed. "For"—MacCuilie. "Against"—Atkinson, McIntyre, Scott, Watson, Gordon and Geres. Motion lost.

Adjournment for lunch, the council re-convening at 1:00 p.m.

R. B. Fritchett waited on the council on the matter of the road allowance between Sections 15 and 22 in 44-23-4. In the discussion of the situation, it appeared that the best step would be to abandon that purchased road and to have the registered owners re-incorporate the land into their quarter sections, the road to be abandoned to be from the corner of the SE 15-44-27-3 westwards.

Watson—that the road allowance N. 18-44-27-3 and N. of 13, 14, 15 and 16-44-26-3 be abandoned and the land affected be re-sold to the registered owners, the prices for the acreages affected to be negotiated. Cd.

Geres—that before proceeding with the closing of the road allowance referred to in Res. No. 2 hereof, advice be obtained from the Department of Highways as to the legal details involved in the closing of the said road.

Messrs. J. McGladdery and Hugh Folkinghorne, representing the Agricultural Improvement and Conservation Committee, interviewed the Council to place several recommendations relating to the weed control program, most of which were accepted and embodied in the resolutions passed later.

ITALY'S POLICE DRAW NO CHEERS

—Central Press Canadian

Celebrating the third anniversary of the founding of the Italian republic, the Italian government sponsored parades all over Italy but none quite as impressive as the Rome parade. For the most part, military equipment consisted of well-kept, freshly painted Allied surplus Sherman tanks sporting clean guns and a fresh coat of green paint, are shown advancing up the avenue. Half the persons participating were police, and while the regular Italian army members were greeted with scattered applause, the police members were greeted by silence all along the line of march.

Memory Selection: "I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep." John 10:11.

Humanity is here seen at its worst. The treatment accorded to the Son of God who came to save the world, execution by crucifixion was torture in its most terrible form; every agony which the human frame could bear was inflicted, always stopping short of unconsciousness, Jesus' own people demanded this for Him whose only offence was love to the uttermost. He accepted it because it was the only way to the world's salvation.

After Pilate had sentenced Him to be crucified the soldiers mocked Him, crowned Him with thorns and spat on Him as the servants of the priests had mocked Him before. Its was led out to Calvary carrying His Cross until He fell under it. They nailed His hands and feet to the Cross. The two robbers crucified with Him joined in the mockery, but Jesus' spirit was such that one of them was converted and prayed for salvation. Through the long hours the darkness of desolation settled in the Saviour's soul. In time this too passed, but before it passed His heart broke under the strain, and He committed His spirit to His Father and passed into peace.

Seven times He spoke, and those seven words are Christianity's choicest treasures. The first was His prayer for those who nailed Him to the tree,—"Father, forgive them: for they know not what they do." (Luke 23:34) Even the agonies inflicted on Him could not blur His sense of the object of His mission. The second, His answer to the penitent thief's plea for salvation:—"Today you will be with me in Paradise." (Luke 23.43) The third word from the Cross was His committal of His mother to John's care (John 19:26-27) Simeon had foretold that "a sword would pierce through her own soul also." (Luke 2: 35) Amid the sufferings of the Cross and with the burden of the world's sin on His soul, He could not but think of her and provide for her future.

This done His mind turned to the problem on His soul. He was bearing our sins in His own body on the cross, and was bearing them alone. All through His active ministry, Jesus lived in close communion with His Father. Physical pain was forgotten in the deeper anguish of desolation. At length it wrung from His heart the cry,—"My God! My God! Why hast Thou foresaken me?" (Mark 15:34) We know that never was the Father nearer to Him than He was then.

Even this darkness passed and He asked for relief from thirst, the desire in which all other suffering is swallowed up. (John 19:28) When drink was given Him, He exclaimed—"It is finished!" The mighty deed was done. The debt was paid. Atonement was made once for all for the sins of mankind.

The last word,—"Father, into Thy hands I commit my spirit" (Luke 23: 46) was a quotation from Psalm 31:5. Professor Robert Law once said that he had seen it stated this was an evening prayer taught by Jewish mothers to their children. If so, Jesus breathed out His spirit in words learned at His mother's knee. The horror of the forsakeness was passed; the conscious union between the Son and Father could never again be interrupted.

Jesus took back to Heaven something which had never been there before—His personal victory over sin. Satan had done his worst, but the wickedness of men which he drove them to had been met with perfect love.

Municipal District of Wainwright No. 61

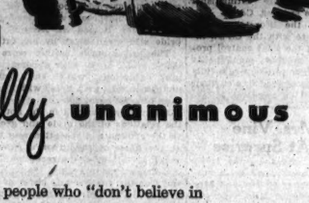

Notice to Ratepayers

Owing to several rolls of snowfence missing from the Stock Piles, the Council find it necessary to forbid Municipal Snowfence being used for any other purpose than for which same was intended.

The Council ask the co-operation of the ratepayers in locating missing snowfence which can be identified by Green Splash Paint, by advising the Divisional Councillor.

Any persons having borrowed snowfence are asked to return same.

CHARLES WILBRAHAM,
Secretary-Treasurer,
12c Municipal District of Wainwright No. 61.

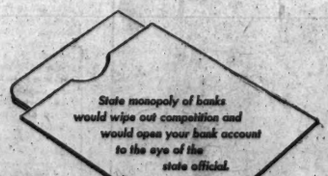

...well practically unanimous

YOU CAN still find people who "don't believe in banks"... who keep their cash in old coffee pots, or hide it in the woodpile, or carry it around.

But most folk nowadays keep their money in bank accounts. They can get it whenever they want it; and they can pay their bills by cheque. Canadians have more than seven million such deposit accounts. In terms of Canada's adult population, that makes it practically unanimous.

The banks, in turn, know they must earn this confidence by giving you the best service they know how.

Today you can take your account to any bank you choose. And what is in your bank book is strictly between you and your bank. It is your own private business.

Edgerton Holds Successful Sports Day

Although the weather was not too favourable, the attendance at Edgerton sports held on Wednesday, June 5th, was larger than previous years, due, no doubt, to a more attractive programme of events. The main attraction, the Open Softball Tournament, drew an entry of twelve teams, Paschendale coming out as winners, with Sligo second. The Ladies' Softball was won by Wainwright, four teams competing. Edgerton and Chauvin were the only entries for Junior Baseball, Edgerton winning 9-3. The Model T Race provided an exciting attraction with an entry of four cars, A Meliskow entry rolled over, but the driver was unhurt. A collection was made on the grounds for him, to carry out repairs. The race was won by S. Bishop, R. Challenger being the second. The Farm Saddle Horse Race was won by N. McCluskey, with Eddie McBride second. The Horse Shoe Tournament was won by Koroluk and Burrows, second Swanson and Manning. The well supplied and well managed refreshment booth was in the capable hands of the St. Mary's W.A. and the ladies of St. Oswald's Parish of Rosemoyne and McCafferty.

The double feature show playing to two houses, was well patronized, as was the dance which followed, music for the latter being supplied by the Spornits Orchestra.

CHURCH NOTES

EDGERTON UNITED CHURCH

Rev. Geo. A. Steele—Minister

Services for Sunday, June 26th

Ribstone	11:00 a.m.
Bloomington	2:00 p.m.
Edgerton	7:30 p.m.

These will be the closing services to be conducted under the present pastor. It is doubtful whether Miss A. Stewart who was appointed by Conference will be in a position to take over, at least in the immediate future. It appears that some error has been made in submitting her name to the Alberta Conference for placement during the coming Conference year. However it is hoped that future provision can be made to supply the fields which have been left vacant owing to the general shortage of ordained ministers. In the meantime it is hoped that the various appointments maintain their church activities and seek to maintain their share in the larger work of the Church which is supported by the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. Work has been made possible on all our Mission fields because local support has been augmented by grants from the Mission Board from the money given to the Missionary and Maintenance from all the charges across Canada.

At the close of the service at Ribstone the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND IN CANADA

Morning Prayer	11:00 a.m.
St. Oswald's (In McCafferty Hall)
Evening Prayer	2:30 p.m.

This Sunday is the nearest to the day on which our Parish of St. Oswald's was established and dedicated one year ago, and so we will celebrate our first anniversary with thanksgiving for what has been a splendid year of progress in the Christian faith. To mark the special occasion, Nina Sawyer and Doris Miles will come and sing the two musical pieces they sang so beautifully to mark Edgerton's anniversary last Sunday, Nina singing Handel's "O Rest In The Lord" and Doris the Bach-Gounod setting of the "Ave Maria". Mrs. Kington will accompany them. We hope everyone will be here to give thanks to God on that day. Please let everyone know.
